

MARILYNNE ROBINSON LECTURE

Wednesday,
November 7, 2018

Reception: 5:00pm
Lecture: 6:00pm

Novelist and essayist, Marilynne Robinson received the Pulitzer Prize for Fiction in 2005, the 2012 National Humanities Medal, and the 2016 Library of Congress Prize for American Fiction. A member of the United Church of Christ, she is best known for her novels Housekeeping and Gilead. The topics of her essays include the relationship between religion and science, nuclear pollution, John Calvin, and contemporary American politics.

The CTS Public Square Lecture Series brings to life the seminary's commitments and beliefs, encouraging open discourse and engagement around emerging issues. This new lecture series offers students and the community an opportunity to hear from leading voices on a variety of critical subjects.
